Little Meadow

Following the expiry of the temporary planning permission for Little Meadow in February, a new planning application to make the site permanent and add a utility room has been received by Corby Borough Council.

At a planning meeting on 8 March, Cottingham Parish Council agreed to oppose the application.

The planning application, crops from the supplied plans and the design statement can be downloaded from www.cottingham.org.uk/news.html

Flying high at the Spread Eagle by Andy Gilgrist

There's a warm welcome, good pub grub and great service promised by the new landlady and landlord at the Spread Eagle.

The Cottingham pub's new managers, Susan Humphreys and John While, plan to enhance the Spread as a hub of village life. Susan has childhood memories of the Spread Eagle – she grew up in the village – and is keen to see the pub continue to be a landmark for locals and visitors alike.

"We want the Spread to be a real village pub, a real local, and very much at the heart of the community," said Susan.

Attractions include exciting new menus including a special of the day, the Sunday carvery from 12.30pm until 6pm, a midweek roast on Wednesday lunchtimes and a full takeaway service. If you don't fancy driving to the chippy, you can order and collect fish and chips, curry, pizza, pies or anything else off the menu.

Cask ales are featured, with new premium lagers arriving soon. Highlights of the calendar such as Mother's Day will see special events at everyday prices. And the pub is always happy to host and cater for weddings, christenings and funerals.

There's pub entertainment too: Sky Sports; live acts on Saturday nights; a fun quiz on Thursdays; karaoke and disco on the last Friday of each month; pool and skittles. Susan and John are keen to host a darts team alongside the pool players. Wireless internet will soon be in place, with business meetings offered for local firms.

Susan said: "We invite village people to use the pub as often as they can. If there is something you would like us to provide for, then please do ask us."

Remembering Eric Lawson (1925 to 2012)

Family, friends and villagers recently filled St Mary Magdalene Church for the funeral of Eric Lawson, a much loved and highly respected member of the community who sadly passed away on 13 February, aged 86. His life was celebrated in a personal service led by Rev Margaret Eales, with moving tributes from his sons William and David, and three of his grandchildren. He is laid to rest in the village churchyard.

Lilian Lawson wishes to thank everyone for their kindness during her husband Eric's illness and subsequent death.

"In particular our wonderful family, Ann and George Stretton and family, Wendy and Michael Curtis, Peter Taylor, Rev Margaret Eales and friends at Cottingham Methodist and St Mary Magdalene Churches and elsewhere, carers and medical staff, everyone for their lovely cards, flowers, donations to the WWF and RSPB, phone messages and those who attended the funeral".

Lilian Lawson

Born in Kettering, Eric was a teenager when he moved with his parents to a rented house in Church Street. He later bought this house, which he modernised and lived in for the rest of his life.

Eric met Lilian when he joined Market Harborough Operatic Society and they married in 1954. After working as a greengrocer for a while, he became manager of a pet shop in Corby Old Village, a shop he later bought and turned into Eric's Pet and Garden Store.

Eric loved Cottingham and served the community in many ways. He was a member of the Home Guard, the village whist league and, for a time, local scoutmaster. He was also a school governor, Church secretary, member of the Village Hall Management Committee and served on the Parish Council for over 42 years, spending four years as Chairman before retiring in 2006. To acknowledge his outstanding contribution to the village, Lawson Court, the development of homes off Millfield Avenue, is named after him.

Eric leaves his wife Lilian, three children - William, David and Celia - and six grandchildren - Carrie, Elizabeth, James, Katie, Emma and Hannah. In the last year of his life, Eric proudly held his first great grandchild Evelyn.

Rural Police update

From PCSO Mark Tooley

Parking has been identified as an issue across all our rural villages and has therefore been adopted as one of our locally identified priorities for the next three months. This means the Police Rural Safer Community Team and our partner agencies will be robustly tackling any parking issues within the villages, particularly near our schools.

We will also challenge inconsiderate parking that obstructs other residents, road users and agencies that visit the villages to conduct a service, for example Kier's refuse collection. I have had reports that some bins have not been emptied due to restricted access. Blind Lane and Church Street are two areas that have been mentioned, so could vehicle owners please be mindful of their parking prior to bin collection days. Otherwise there could be an early morning wake up knock requesting the vehicle to be moved. I have also received complaints that visitors to the village shop are parking on the Corby Road and Rockingham Road junctions. Please be mindful of the junction.

On a more positive note, the crime figures for December showed a 'zero', no reported crime. This is excellent news, considering there had been a high number of burglaries in the villages over the same period for the past couple of years.

With hopefully better weather coming, we'll have the speed camera in various locations at hotspot times. This is not only to catch, but also to deter motorists from speeding.

I am still in the process of setting up a Neighbourhood Watch Scheme for Ripley Road and Bancroft Road. I will get round to all houses to gauge interest.

If you have any concerns, then please pop along to one of my Police surgeries, that I now hold at the Village Store and Café and the over 60s club in the Village Hall Annex.

Home from home

It's Wednesday, it's 12.30pm, so it must be the Homeworkers Soup Kitchen at the Village Store and Café !

Homeworkers are regularly coming along to the Soup Kitchen to enjoy a bowl of Del Robertson's delicious homemade soup, a roll and a free drink - or, if they prefer, a bacon sarnie or even a piece of cake.

It's aimed at people who normally work from home who just want to break up the day with a bit of a walk, lunch and a chat, and hopefully half an hour away from the mobile phone. Fear not, this is certainly not a high powered business networking lunch!

Come along and give it a try or contact Phil at the shop on 770097.

News from the Village Store

From Store Manager, Linda Begley

"We continue to be delighted with the number of people who are using the facilities on a regular basis. We also remain grateful to our outstanding group of volunteers, whose hard work and dedication are crucial to the successful running of the Village Store and Café.

"We are continuing to make improvements to the service we offer, for example by introducing a process by which newspapers can be reserved. As well as the homeworkers' lunch on Wednesdays, we have 'Tea for Two' on Fridays, when you can buy any hot drink and a tea cake, and receive the same again for free.

"We have introduced a loyalty card for hot drinks (one free drink when you have gained six stamps) and we are gradually introducing a wider range of hot food, such as jacket potatoes. We are delighted to welcome individuals and groups who can make use of the facilities - Nikki's nails is using the upstairs room for manicures on the last Thursday of the month from 10am to 2pm. We would encourage any groups that meet regularly in the village to consider using the café as a place to meet during the day.

"If you have specific requirements, please call into the shop or telephone 770097, and speak to Linda, Phil, Tracy or Claire."

Teens meet the Tigers! by Andy Gilgrist

The teenage volunteers who regularly help out at the Village Store and Café recently enjoyed a thank you treat - a trip to the Leicester Tigers training ground.

Not only did the young people get to see round the Premiership rugby union club's facilities at Oval Park, they got to rub shoulders with the players at lunch too.

Organised by local resident and Tigers acting chief operating officer Simon Cohen, the visits gave a real insight into how the Tigers recover from and prepare for their bruising encounters with the best players in the UK and Europe.

From the ice bath to the physio's treatment tables, the laundry room full of acres of clean kit, the weights room and some of the most advanced fitness and conditioning equipment at any club in any sport, the Tigers are set up with one thing in mind – winning.

But what strikes the visitor is how down to earth everyone is. And it is deliberately so, as the club seeks to keep its feet on the ground and promote an ethos of teamwork, responsibility and confidence.

Lunch was grabbed alongside the players in a very relaxed setting. It was hard to remember you were eating the same food in the same room as a good number of world rugby stars.

The teenagers from Cottingham and Middleton, who have worked at the shop since it opened last September, all had a good time. It was a great way to say a big thank you to the young volunteers, who typically give up an hour and a half each week. Those on the trips were Holly (16) and Liam (15) Rigsby, Jordan MacDonald-Black (16), Joel MacDonald (17), Eliza Hudson (14) and Nathaniel George (14).

Jordan, who plays wing for Corby's S&L and enjoys watching the Tigers, said it had been a real eye-opener. The Tigers were, on the whole, giants – even the faster backs. Manu Tuilagi, one of world rugby's brightest stars, looked like he could run through brick walls for fun.

Local cider wins CAMRA award

Mark Shirley's Rockingham Forest Cider, brewed at his home in Middleton, has beaten off competition from across the East Midlands to win a silver award in the regional Campaign for Real Ale's 2011 Cider of the Year competition.

Mark started making cider 15 years ago as a hobby and now brews 600 gallons a year, mainly for CAMRA festivals and also for some local outlets. The winning brew was made with Kingston Black and Sweet Alford apples from the Cotswolds.

Fundraising on song

Thanks to everyone who came along to The Cat Came Back gig just before Christmas. The event raised £200 that has been split equally between the Methodist Church, the Village Hall Annex, the Over 60s Club and to go towards repair of the steps leading up to St Mary Magdalene Church.

The Valley Voice choir also raised £180 for the NSPCC from carol singing and 50p donations from each of the 110 'Hark the Valley Voices Sing' CDs sold. They'd like to thank the Village Store for their help in selling the CDs.

Let's get quizzical

Del Robertson would like to thank everyone who came to his inaugural 'Souper Quiz' at the Village Hall Annex in February. There was a good turnout and fun was had by all. Clive Ashworth's tasty rolls and some decent raffle prizes all added to the success and helped raise £125 for the Annex. Congratulations to Supper's Ready, the winners on the night. Full results are available on the village website.

The final total raised for Canine Partners from Ant Liquorish's last quiz was £501.

Brian Gamblen is trying to find out more about his birth mother, Edna Simpson. Dog mess

There have been a number of complaints about dog mess in the village recently, especially on Rockingham Road, Bancroft Road and Ripley Road. The Council Neighbourhood Warden Jim McCabe has been informed and will be patrolling the area. However, if you do see any incidents of dog mess not being cleaned up, please report it to the Council Neighbourhood Team on 01536 464619, noting the time, the breed of dog and, if you know the owner, their name. And, if you're a dog owner, please clean up after your animal or risk facing a hefty fine!
